RATINGS

APRIL 1993

1st April, 1993
All players active since 1st January, 1992

Advertising

The ratings booklet now takes advertising. Rates are $60 per page,

$30 per half page,

$15 per quarter page.

The ratings booklet is probably the most-read chess publication in Australia: players are always anxious to learn their new rating, and the ratings of their friends, and to see whose rating is increasing most rapidly, who are the strongest players, and so on. Some players carry it as part part of their chess "kit," to look up the ratings of their opponents and record them in the space provided on scoresheets.

It is an excellent vehicle to carry messages to all Australia's active chess players.

Would-be advertisers should contact Robert Jamieson (PO Box 716, Mt Waverley, 3149) for further information.

Introduction

Guy West, ACF Deputy President

Welcome to the ACF's new upgraded ratings booklet, which now comes free to everyone who receives Australian Chess Magazine.

Because of the widespread interest of chessplayers in their own and other players' ratings, it would seem that the publication of these lists affords us an excellent opportunity for the dissemination of information through advertising. We invite clubs, businesses, tournament organisers etc to consider the advantages of using the booklets for this purpose.

By improving the content and presentation and by adding some life and colour to the bare figures, we hope to turn the ratings booklets into a more unifying focal point for chessplayers. We will be introducing more and useful information and statistics, improving the readability, standardising the format and gradually eliminating the inconsistencies that have permeated lists in the past.

To this end I have been appointed Ratings booklet Co-ordinator, and the production will be a joint effort between John Summerfield, Robert Jamieson and myself. John is the new National Ratings Officer and is in charge of the technical, mathematical and programming aspects of the ratings lists, while Robert will be contributing printing and layout expertise.

To help us in our aims, we would greatly appreciate your proof-reading assistance. Any misspelt names, absent first-names, people who have emigrated or died should be reported promptly to your State Ratings Officer.

Ratings Comments

An exciting development on the ratings scene is the decision by the Correspondence Chess League of Australia to convert its ratings to the Elo system. This means that at last cross-board players will be able to get a reasonable notion of playing strengths of correspondence players. This will surely have a positive effect on the CCLA's membership. The CCLA Ratings Officer, Mike Finch, writes, "It will take a year or so to 'mature'. Arithmetical conversions were done from the old system and some players (such as Max Salm) are dormant."

The man to watch is the new Australian Champion, Jose Silva who for the past few years has been winning strong events by massive margins, scoring at over 90%. Jose emigrated from Uruguay in 1970 and is 35 years old. I've never seen him play cross-board, but one suspects he must be quite strong!

Cross-board Lists

The top echelons of Australian chess are fairly stable at present, with few dramatic changes to the rankings. Australian Junior Champion, John-Paul Wallace, was the highlight, improving his ranking from 35th to 12th with a massive 93-point gain.

To make the top 20 improvers from his rating is a tremendous achievement.

The Top Females list is also stable, rankings-wise, but showing a tendency towards improvement. Natalie Mills gained a solid 52 points, Patricia Collins 34, Sulyn Teh 72 and Donna Liang 39. Boglarka Remenyi made the Most Improved list with a spectacular jump of 95 points.

Australia's most improved player, Narelle Szuveges, plays at the Essendon Chess Club in Melbourne. She has already represented Australia overseas where the team manager, Ian Rogers, was impressed by her talent. Her brother, Grant, is also in the Most Improved list so one suspects that their father (who is a keen player and organiser) has had an influence here. Matthew Klugman is a young player from Melbourne's White Horse Chess Club, while Danny Dwyer is one of the talented crop of Perth juniors. Dwyer and Queenslander Max Leskiewicz have both applied to represent Australia in overseas junior events and their impressive rating jumps won't hurt their chances.

Melkonian and Lee are noteworthy for big improvements in already respectable ratings. We congratulate all players who made the most improved list.

Ratings accuracy

A question that all players (and administrators) should ask, is "How accurate is a rating." Professor Elo developed most of the theory behind the FIDE and USCF ratings systems on which ours is based. Elo defined a class interval as the difference in playing strength between (national) Masters and International Masters, and between International Masters and Grand Masters. Of course, there is no absolute difference: there are some IMs stronger than some GMs, and then there are other GMs.

He assigned the class interval a value of 200 ratings points, to quantify a rather vague notion and allow it to be processed mathematically.

Elo has a table in his book, "The Rating of Chessplayers, past & Present," in which he details in various ways how (im)precise ratings are. But first, consider this.

In the first round of a swiss tournament, a very strong player, say over 2300, blunders into a two-move mate. What does that say about his opponent's playing strength?

According to Elo, after nine games we can be 71% certain that a player's performance rating is within one half a class interval (100 points) of his actual playing strength. After 20 games, we reach 88% and at 30 games 95% certain that the indicated value is within 100 points of the "true" value.

These are the theoretical limitations of the ratings. Administrative errors, such as mis-recording a result, can increase the uncertainty. This actually happened to me, and it made a difference to my rating of 30.

Similarly, a blunder such as that I mentioned above will add 15 or 30 points to a player's rating, and distort the rating. Over a short run, these incidental distortions are quite large. Over time, their effects are reduced, and counter-balanced by other errors. This does, however, highlight the imprecision of ratings systems.

The ACF Rating System

by John Summerfield

The ACF produces three ratings lists per year. The publication dates and deadlines for submission of correctly-coded results to the National Ratings Officer are:

April Feb 28

August Jun 30

December Oct 31

These deadlines are set to allow time for the National Ratings Officer to process all the results and produce the ratings booklets.

Our ambition is to have the ratings booklet, master-file and new databases distributed by the time the new ratings become effective. It takes time to produce the masters for printing, and then more time to pass them on to the printer, and for the printer to schedule the work.

Any problems with incorrectly-record events, bad disks, missing results and so on can easily add days to the time it takes to produce the new ratings list. Please read the instructions on the coding forms carefully, and if you have any questions, take them up with your State Ratings Officer.

Club officials are responsible for supplying accurate, complete and legible information to their state ratings officer. There are special coding forms available from state ratings officers to facilitate this process.

The National Ratings Officer only accepts results from the State Ratings Officers.

Acceptable events.

Events to be rated must conform to some standards:

The rate of play in the first time-control must allow at least two minutes per move, and the first time-control must not be before move 30. Subsequent time-controls requiring a more rapid rate of play are allowed.

Events played under the FIDE rules for Sixty-Minute (Rapid) Chess also may be rated. Note that in such events, each player must be allowed at least 60 minutes for all his moves.

The event may not be a handicap event, for example material or time.

The event may not be a fixed-opening event.

The event is approved by the state association and/or ACF for rating.

Telechess events will be rated unless all parties involved agree otherwise.

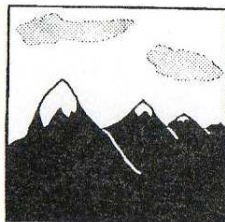

The event must be submitted to the National Ratings Officer in good time. Normally, events should be processed in the period in which they finish, or if the end is near the deadline, the next period.

Events reaching the National Ratings List more than one period late are worthless for calculating the current strength of players, and will be discarded. I know players who are regularly performing more than 400 ratings points above their published ratings even when their results are processed in good time.

Even when tournaments are processed promptly, it can be five months before they are reflected in published ratings.

One list later, they are nine months old, two lists and over a year!

What the ACF needs to know.

Each player who plays in a rated event is assigned an identifying number, and this is used internally to match game results with the central player file.

To ensure that State Ratings Officers can match tournament results and changes to player details, certain basic information must be provided:

Usual first name

Family name (surname)

Initials

Gender

Birth-date (month and year).

Ratings officers cannot be expected to record tournament results correctly when the information provided to them is inaccurate or ambiguous. In Victoria, we have two Michael Kagans and two Ladislav Zeves. I have heard that NSW has identical twins with the same first initial.

If tournament organisers provide ALL the information we ask, it greatly improves our chances of producing correct ratings.

In addition to help distinguish between players with similar names, the birth-date allows us to produce reports of top players in various age-groups, and to produce other statistical information. The ACF has recently decided to award veteran titles, and it would be useful to be able to produce tables showing how strong our senior players are. Perhaps players would like a list of the top 10 octogenarians?

Players who move interstate should ensure that tournament organisers know they have already played elsewhere in Australia; tournament organisers must report this information to the State Ratings Officer (if the change is more or less permanent), so the player file can be changed to reflect the player's new state.

Calculating ratings.

I have rewritten this explanation, and I will welcome any comments from readers, particularly any who find my explanation unclear. If criticisms are specific, there is a good chance I can address them in the future. Vague comments, such as, "I don't understand it," I will ignore. - JS

There are several different calculations made in determining a player's new rating. The choice of calculation depends on the circumstances.

For all calculations, results against unrated players are not used.

For a new player, a performance rating is calculated:

$$R_p = AR + D_p$$

R_p is the performance rating.

AR is the average of Opponents' ratings

D_p is the rating difference indicated in table 1.

Example 1

Smith scores 1/5 against players with an average rating of 1250. We locate the entry corresponding to the score of .20 in table 1 and find $D_p = -240$.

From the formula we have

$$R_p = 1250 + (-240)$$

$$= 1250 - 240$$

$$r_p = 1010$$

Smith's provisional rating is 1010, and $N_g = 5$.

If the player has fewer than 9 games against rated opponents, R_p is retained a provisional rating, but is not published. N_g is retained.

Example 2

For a provisionally-rated player

$$R_{pn} = AR + D_p$$

R_{pn} is the player's performance rating in the new event.

$$R_n = ((R_o * N_g) + (R_{pn} * N_{gn}))$$

Total games.

R_n is the new rating.

R_o is the old (provisional) rating

N_g is the number of rated games played before this event

N_{gn} is the number of rated games in the new event.

Smith plays another tournament, and scores 1.5/7 against a field averaging 1310.

We have

$$R_{pn} = AR - D_p$$

$$= 1310 - D_p(.21)$$

$$= 1310 - 230$$

$$R_{pn} = 1080$$

and then

$$R_n = ((1010 * 5) + (1080 * 7)) / 12$$

$$= 1050.83$$

If the player has now played nine or more games, the player is considered rated with rating = R_n , and further rating changes are calculated accordingly.

Smith has played 12 games, and now has an established rating of 1051.

Example 3

For a player with an established rating:

$$R_i = (S_a - S_e) * 15 + BP$$

$$S_e = P(AR - R_o) * N$$

Note that if the difference between players ratings exceeds 336, it is set to 336. Thus, if Smith (1051) plays IM Jones (2400), then Jones' rating is set to 1387 for rating Smith, and Smith's is set to 2064 for rating Jones.

N is the number of games

P is the probable percentage score from table 2.

R_i is the rating increment

S_a is the score achieved in the event

S_e is the score predicted, using the difference between the player's rating and AR , and table 2.

Smith keeps playing, and in the next tournament scores 2/5 against players whose average rating is 1360.

$$S_a = 2$$

$$S_e = P(1360 - 1051) * 5$$

$$= P(309) * 5$$

$$= .14 * 5$$

$$= 0.70$$

$$R_i = (2 - .70) * 15$$

$$= 19.50$$

BP is bonus points awarded for exceptional performances. For most players in most events, no bonus ratings points are awarded,

At the end of the rating period, all Smith's ratings increments are added to his old rating. If the processing of this tournament corresponded to the end of a ratings period, his new rating would be $1050.83 + 19.50 = 1070.33$. The ratings list would record it as 1070.

Note that all Smith's 19.5 ratings points would be deducted from his opponents.

At the end of processing for a ratings period, all rating increments for each player are added to his rating at the beginning of processing.

Bonus points may be awarded to players in tournaments exceeding five rounds as follows:

Games	Condition	Points
6-10	(Sa-Se) > 1	15*(Sa-Se-1)
11-15	(Sa-Se) > 2	15*(Sa-Se-2)
15	(Sa-Se) > 3	15*(Sa-Se-3)

Example 4

Smith plays another tournament, and shows even more improvement. Against a field averaging 1410, he scores 4/7.

$$S_a = 4$$

$$S_e = P(1410 - 1070.33) * 7$$

$$= P(339.67) * 7$$

$$= .12 * 7$$

$$= .84$$

$$BP = 15 * (4 - .84 - 1)$$

$$= 15 * 2.16$$

$$= 32.40$$

$$R_i = (4 - .84) * 15 + 32.40$$

$$= 47.40 + 32.40$$

$$= 79.80.$$

In this case, Smith takes 47.40 ratings points from his opponents, and adds 32.40 to the ratings pool.
